Training and Specialization

My areas of specialization include sexual/other trauma and depression. I have given presentations/workshops on the subject to graduate students, community organizations, and employees in various positions I've held since 1992. Another area of expertise includes Post Traumatic Stress Disorder with co-occurring disorders. I have experience working throughout California, and with other states' agencies. I have worked with a culturally diverse group of adults and children over the years, of all ethnicities including monolingual Latino families and Native Alaskans/Native Americans of various tribes. I have been an instructor for the University of Alaska Fairbanks (Northwest Campus, Nome) School of Rural Human Services, and a trainer for the County of San Diego Department of Social Services Training and Development Center for new and existing employees. I have years of experience supervising and training clinical staff and well as in program development and implementation. My theoretical orientation is cognitive-behavioral with underpinnings in humanistic psychology. I am trained in and have experience using Parent-Child Interaction Therapy (PCIT), a highly effective modality for treating ADHD and other disruptive behavior disorders in children.
